Quentin (DJ Texas Tip) studied Radio Television and film at the University of North Texas where he received his bachelors degree and built his musical foundation. He started his own music production company that specialized in audio engineering, music production and djing services. He soon became known campus wide as the "Music Man". This all lead to him producing audio for campus theatrical performances, audio for national step shows and Djing events throughout Texas.

After graduation Quentin worked as an audio engineer at Luminous Sound Studios in Dallas, where he had the privilege of working with the Grammy Award winning artist Kirk Franklin. After gaining industry experience he started his career in radio. As he worked for 100.3 Jack FM as a board operator and morning producer he continued to brand his name, by djing parties all across Texas. He competed in many DJ competitions, such as the K104 DJ on Display Contest which lead to his own mix show on 105.7KRNB, the "Take it To the House Mix" with Skip Murphy. With the show's success and the guidance of the late great "Nate Quick", He was able to get his own mix show on Dallas's #1 hip hop station K104 "The Weekend Block Party Mix".

Quentin shares his skills and talents by teaching summer camps and after school programs for middle schools in Dallas. He can be found throughout Texas at schools, corporate events, special events, and nightclubs doing what he loves best! He understands the power and the responsibility that a great DJ holds. He brings personality, musical experience, and professionalism to every event!
